Assembly Okays Lucey's Budget

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Rival political philosophies ended a Tarr Task Force-based blue-ribbon debate late Friday as the Wisconsin Assembly approved Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's proposed 1971-73 state budget and sent it to a new duel in the Senate.

Democrats celebrated accomplishments of the four-day marathon debate over beer after the 58-41 passage, terming their ordeal an "agonizing ritual" but "a ritual not without meaning."

The fiscal package which won the approval of 58 of the Assembly's 65 Democrats may bear little resemblance to Lucey's $1.99 billion budget after it is amended by the GOP-controlled Senate and sent almost certainly to a conference committee.

Slightly Modified

Republicans viewed the budget bill as only slightly modified from the Democratic governor's, and spent three days of lengthy discussion explaining their 41 amendments. Each amendment died at the hands of numerically superior Democrats.

The Republican amendments which Democrats didn't even bother to debate "offered real tax relief," assistant GOP minority leader John Shabaz of New Berlin told the Assembly in the closing minutes Friday night.

They would have resulted in a $45 million saving to Wisconsin taxpayers in the 1971-73 biennium, he insisted. The amendments would have produced a budget deficit of $141 million, the assistant majority leader, Herbert Grover of Shawano, replied.

GOP Objections

Through hours of debate was woven GOP objections to Lucey's higher corporate and individual income taxes designed to raise most of the $177 million in new tax revenues his budget calls for. There also were protests converging on Lucey's school aid and shared-tax proposals.

Charged Callousness

Republicans charged Democratic income tax hikes would drive industry from the state.

"Three years from now, you'll be in here introducing a gigantic public works program because there won't be any jobs," minority leader Harold V. Froehlich told his Democratic rivals.

Republicans charged Democrats with being callous toward business small and large, with taking from the industrious and giving to the unindustrious, and with putting party interests ahead of the interests of constituents.

Republican amendments would have changed the state's

Hughes Raps Pullout Delay

Allows More Time
For Drugs, Fathering,
Iowa Senator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harold E. Hughes says delay in completing U.S. withdrawal from Indochina will give American soldiers more time to father illegitimate children or become drug addicts.

The issue, the Iowa Democrat told a virtually deserted Senate Friday, is not whether the United States will leave Indochina but when it will leave. "Everyone agrees that we must leave," he said. But as U.S. troops turn over their responsibilities to the South Vietnamese, he added, "the more time they have on their hands, the more illegitimate children and the more narcotics addicts."

Emotional Appeal

Hughes cited the drug problem and illegitimate children in an emotional appeal for the McGovern-Haflinger amendment to cut off funds for U.S. operations in Indochina.

The amendment is due for votes next week in both House and Senate and faces an uphill fight in both. In the House, it will be offered as an amendment to military procurement legislation; in the Senate, as an amendment to the bill extending the military draft.

The Senate vote is set for Wednesday, with House action due either Wednesday or Thursday.

Poll Taken

An Associated Press poll of the Senate shows 36 senators for the amendment, 53 against and 11 officially undecided. Of the 11, four are known to oppose it. The largest claim in its behalf in the House is 150 votes, far short of the 218 majority.

But in House subcommittee hearing, a stormy exchange developed with the testimony of former Paris peace talk negotiator W. Averell Harriman that the Nixon administration "is trying to continue the war and impose on the people of South Vietnam a military junta."

He told a foreign affairs subcommittee he agrees with former Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford's proposal this week that negotiation of a Dec. 31 total American withdrawal would bring release of all American prisoners.

But it was Harriman's commentary on the government of Vietnam that brought heated argument from the subcommittee.

Computers Watch Support Payments

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Some Wisconsin fathers charged with supporting their children and ex-wives are now under the scrutiny of a computer programmed to make sure they make their payments.

In recent years, fathers who have found loopholes in Dane County's manual system of keeping track of payments have been delinquent by $5 million.

And Dane County sees no hope of collecting the money. But during the past 14 months, specialists under the direction of Alan Larson, systems analysis director for Dane County, have programmed an IBM computer to take on the bookkeeping.

Larson says it will now be "virtually impossible" for any of the county's 4,500 support-paying fathers to beat the system.

The program began on Feb. 1 and is expected to be in full operation by July.

The computer makes daily checks of payment records, issues monthly statistics, analyzes children's ages, prints annual records of payments for father, and issues a notice when a child reaches the age of 18 or 21.

If a father misses a payment, the computer issues a notice of nonpayment to both the father and the family court commissioner. If he misses two payments, the machine issues all information necessary to get out a court summons, and provides a payment history for the judge to consider.

And, if the father agrees in court to make the payments but fails to do so, the computer informs the appropriate parties so that they may take action.

"In the past," said Family Support Division Supervisor Julie Hunt, "the only way we knew if a payment was late was if the wife called the family court commissioner."

Many Cases
"In many cases, the woman would not call, but go and get on our aid for dependent children (AFDC) program."

As a result, 550 ex-wives are now on AFDC in Dane County. And about one-third of the county's fathers are not paying the support they are supposed to.

Before the computer program was devised, the situation had been expected to get worse. By 1975, county officials estimated, 10,000 fathers here will be required to pay support.

Surprise Raid Alcatraz Indians Taken Off Island

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Federal marshals have staged a surprise raid and forcefully removed the last of an Indian occupying force from Alcatraz Island, a former federal prison site that since Nov. 20, 1969, has been a symbol for American Indians.

Twenty men armed with shotguns landed in boats Friday while most of the estimated 75 Indians living on the San Francisco Bay island were on the mainland on business.

There was no resistance from the six men, four women and five children, and no one was injured. Marshals said they took a four-inch knife from one of the men, who had been using it to cut meat for lunch.

Three Coast Guard cutters evacuated the 15 Indians, who were then taken by Navy bus to some of America's toughest criminals, was phased out in U.S. Atty. James L. Brown-1963.

ing Jr. said the raid was triggered when a U.S. marshal observed $680 worth of copper wires and cables being removed from the island in the morning and sold in San Francisco. Three Indians were arrested and charged with theft of government property.

Browning, who announced the raid at a news conference, said continued Indian occupation of the island was intolerable and that the Indians had been "illegally inhabiting the island."

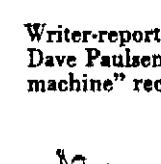

John Trudell, a 25-year-old Sioux who is a member of the Alcatraz tribal council and was ashore when the marshals struck, told a news conference that Browning had promised "there would be no action against us while we were still negotiating. They lied to us."

The prison, once home of some of America's toughest criminals, was phased out in U.S. Atty. James L. Brown-1963.

GOP Alternative Offered

Regents' Merger View Friday

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The regents of the two Wisconsin public university systems delayed action Friday on a Republican alternative to Democratic Gov. Patrick Lucey's merger plan.

But the boards agreed that next Friday they would take votes and announce their collective views on proposals before the legislature for merging the systems.

In a joint meeting Friday, the regents for the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin State Universities declined to take a vote on UW Regent Ody Fish's motion supporting the concept of a board of governors for higher education in addition to the two boards and two systems. Fish is former state GOP chairman.

John Lavine, a state universities system regent, said the GOP proposal for adding legislators to a new governing board would be too great a departure from tradition.

During the week, students, faculty, administrators and alumni of the two systems are expected to review the proposal introduced in the Senate Thursday as a substitute to the merger plan, and the joint regent committee on merger is to make a report to the two boards before the vote on Friday.

The board of governors plan, authored by eight senators, headed by Sen. James Devitt R-Greenfield, a member of the Senate education committee, would provide for a board comprised of the superintendent of public instruction, presidents of both boards and the president of the vocational, technical and adult education board, the executive officer of the three post-secondary education systems, one UW chancellor, one state university president, the chairman and ranking minority members of the legislature's education committees and the co-chairmen of the joint finance committee.

The board of governors would act on building and budget requests of the two systems and would be assisted by joint regent committees with members from each board on budget, building, education and administration.

The latest alternative to merger, Fish told the two boards comes closest, to my viewpoint, as we ought to have." He asked the members to endorse it as the best alternative for cooperation and coordination between the two systems.

UW Regents Chairman Bernard Ziegler, West Bend, agreed that the board of governors plan "comes pretty close or nearest to what the board is looking for." He said he opposed change for its own sake but admitted he feared a deadline for regent action is near, and some stand should be taken before the legislature decides.

The other members of the two boards, however, were reluctant to take action on a proposal that had just been made known to them less than an hour before the motion was made. Gordon Walker of Racine, on the UW board and Lavine, Chippewa Falls, and Mrs. Mary Williams, Stevens Point, from the state universities board, indicated they opposed the board of governor's proposal as written because of the involvement of legislators. Mrs. Williams said she opposed it also because it does not propose to oversee all of public education in Wisconsin.

The motion came rather suddenly, considering that the two boards had met together only once before and that the joint committee on merger meeting earlier Friday came slowly and reluctantly to the conclusion that a decision would have to be made at some time, following study of the new proposal.

Forced Opinion

Roy Kopp, president of the state universities regents, told the joint committee that whether they want to, they are being pressured by legislators and the public to express an opinion on merger.

"The more I think about it (the board of governor's proposal) the more I'm impressed," Kopp said. He interpreted the bill as a positive action that does not say the boards will not merge, but does not set a date for merger. It would, he said, give "a chance to work cooperatively" for a while, after which time a merger may seem appropriate, or a reversion to the present organization may be advisable.

It is not certain, however, that the board of governor's idea would satisfy Lucey's demand that merger be accomplished by the present legislature. Lucey has said the demand is not negotiable and that he will not sign a budget bill that funds the present Coordinating Council for Higher Education. The board of governor's would be funded with only $20,000 for office expenses while the two systems' staff would provide staff.

Passenger Killed In Hijack Attempt

NEW YORK (AP) — A gunman hijacked an airliner in Chicago, killed one of its passengers, police said, then fought a gun battle with a deputy U.S. marshal as the plane flew to New York before being subdued here early today.

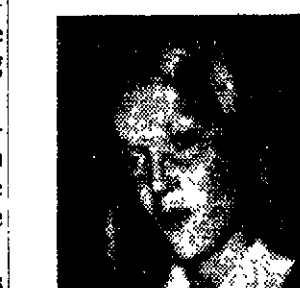

The hijacker reportedly demanded to be flown to North Vietnam after he took over the plane by placing his gun at the head of a blonde stewardess.

The slain passenger was Howard Franks, 65, Darien, Conn., who was shot and killed, apparently as other passengers scrambled for the plane at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport.

First Time

A Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said it was the first time a passenger had been killed in a U.S. airplane hijacking.

The hijacker, identified as Gregory White, 23, Chicago, was seized by FBI agents when the Trans World Airlines 727 jet landed at Kennedy Airport. The FBI said one of its agents shot the man and wounded him in

Black Policemen Expect Hot Summer

'Bored Kids Harassing Cops Could Set It Off'

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Representatives of fraternal organizations of black policemen, meeting here this week, view the coming summer apprehensively.

The most common problem cited by delegates to the National Council of Police Societies meeting is jobs for urban youngsters.

The more youths on the street with nothing to do, the higher the potential for violent outbreaks—this was a common theme in responses from delegates to questions about the mood of their cities as the summer approaches.

The council is composed of 18 black fraternal organizations across the nation.

Patrolman Kinsley Bryan of Washington's metropolitan police department said the capital's population is estimated at 90 per cent black, and hundreds of black youths will roam the streets this summer looking for something to do.

"Crime in the city will increase," Bryan said. "There will be more house burglaries, more street fights. It could really be bad."

A simple thing like bored kids harassing cops," Bryan said, "could set it off."

Efforts Inadequate
Some policemen credit the Urban League, and business and civic groups with initiating programs to find jobs for youths this summer, but say community efforts are inadequate.

The National League of Cities has predicted that some 3.5 million students alone will not find jobs this summer, half a million more than last year.

The White House announced earlier this month that the federal government will provide $303 million to create 674,000 summer jobs for 16- to 19-year-olds from poor families.

Crucial Problems
An Associated Press survey this week found that in many urban areas there are five applicants for every available summer job and in some areas the ratio is 20 to 1.

Patrolman William E. Johnson, also of Washington, said some youths don't want to work, but the more crucial problems can be those who want to work but can't find jobs that fit their abilities.

"When the kid can't get a job that fits his qualification," Johnson said, "then he becomes hostile and he takes his hostilities out on the first person available—which in most cases will be a police officer."

Patrolman Charles Knox of Newark, N.J., said jobs in his city are always a problem but unless something is done to alleviate the situation this summer "we could have another 1967."

Twenty-six persons were killed in a Newark race riot that summer.

"Technically," Knox said "Newark is one great big ghetto. Proportionately, we have more drug addicts than any other city our size in the nation. You can expect repercussions under this condition."

Sgt. Harold Arnold of the Philadelphia Police Department said there had been a lack of imagination in planning summer jobs and recreation programs for youths in his city.

"If the state and city are broke like the city fathers say," he said, "then there are definitely going to be problems. Any time program or funds are cut the black man and child are hurt the most. The police will have trouble because a Turn to Page 6, Col. 3

Town of Harrison

Residents Push for New Sanitary District

SHERWOOD — A petition with 47 signatures was presented to the Town of Harrison Tuesday for a sanitary district involving frontage on U.S. 10, north of Appleton city limits, and the Waverly Beach area east to Firelane 10.

Harry Lopas, and Martin Hendricks, volunteered to head a committee to seek additional signatures to form the district.

"We'll let the Department of Natural Resources decide who will take the sewage, Hendricks said, after noting that the Town of Menasha had refused.

Lopas told the Town Board that it was time it took a position on forming a sanitary district and that they "just couldn't sit on their hands."

Having municipal services is the only way the town could get industry or a tax base, he said.

An attempt made about two years ago failed to receive enough support from the taxpayers.

Area surveys have been made, Town Chairman George

Schwalbach confirmed, with the cost estimated near $1 million.

Lopas, who said he has given 118 lectures on pollution, yet "in our backyard we do nothing," stated that 50 per cent could be allowed from the federal government, 25 per cent from state funds, and possibly another 5 per cent from other sources.

This would leave 20 per cent of the bill to be paid through general bonds.

Green Bay Youth Sentenced to Jail On Theft Charge

An 18-year-old Green Bay youth, Rudolph E. Webster Jr., was sentenced to four months in the Outagamie County jail Thursday on a reduced charge of theft.

He pleaded guilty. Sentence was imposed by County Judge Nick F. Schaefer, in County Court Branch 2.

Sheriff's investigators said Webster and a juvenile broke into Morgan's Store in the Village of Oneida last Oct. 30 and took 25 six-packs of beer, two eight-packs and four twelve-packs.

An original burglary count against Webster was amended to theft Thursday when authorities were advised that the other party involved, a 17-year-old route 1, Oneida youth, was the one who actually broke into the store.

The juvenile was recently prosecuted for other charges.

2 Academy Appointees Will Attend Reception

Two Appleton youths who have received appointments to the U.S. Air Force Academy will be guests with their parents Saturday and Sunday at a reception-orientation at St. John Military Academy, Delavan.

They are Mark D. Brinkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Brinkman, 213 W. Marquette St., and John F. Isenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Isenberg.

The two youths are among 44 appointed from Wisconsin who will report to the Air Force Academy in Colorado on July 5.

Mosquito Fogger to Bypass Residence, as Requested

The Appleton mosquito fogger will bypass a south side home, in response to a resident's complaint that the fogging irritates her son's and husband's asthma.

Mrs. Hazel Sumnicht, 17 Silver Spur Lane, recently renewed a request that the city stop spraying a mosquito control compound consisting of malathion and fuel oil.

Public Works Director Robert

Miller has told the Appleton Board of Health that the fogger can bypass Silver Spur Lane without cutting off service to neighbors of the Sumnichts.

"We can effectively cover the neighborhood from other streets," he said.

He and deputy health commissioner Peter LeMere also disagreed with suggestions by Mrs. Sumnicht in her letter that the chemical-oil combination harms birds and other creatures and may pose general health hazards to humans.

LeMere said guidelines of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Public Health Service are followed in using the material.

Miller said the fogging program is about to begin for the summer.

Vandels Smash 30 Windows at Schools

Vandals smashed a total of 30 windows overnight at two Appleton schools.

Nineteen windows were broken on the north side of the James Madison Junior High School, 2020 S. Carpenter St., and 11 broken at Johnston Elementary School, 2525 S. Forest St.

In each case, police said it appeared a tool was used to do the damage. Monetary losses were being compiled.

Police & Fire Beat

LITTLE CHUTE — Thomas Koss, 18, 1414 N. Harriman St., Appleton, was cited for failure to have his vehicle under control after the car he was driving east on W. Main Street jumped a curb and left the road, breaking off a fire hydrant and hitting a power pole about 2 a.m. Friday.

Damage to the car was estimated at $350.

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called to extinguish a fire, believed started by children, W. Wisconsin Ave., reported along railway right of way on Wilson Street about 7:35 p.m. Wednesday.

KAUKAUNA — Two vandalism complaints and a theft complaint were filed with police Thursday. Lee Klister, 1308 Sullivan Ave., reported shoes and sandals stolen from his children while they were swimming at the Memorial Pool. The items were in a clothing basket inside the building.

Wrecking crews at Immanuel United Church reported children broke three glass block windows by throwing bricks through them. Joseph Vander Loop, 101 Wisconsin Ave., reported holes burned in carpeting on front steps of his home and his car aerial broken and fender damaged while it was parked near his home.

ONEIDA — Four persons were hurt, none seriously, when the car in which they were riding early Friday left the south of here, and went into the ditch.

Outagamie County police identified the driver as Larry D. Cornelius, 18, route 2, West De Pere. He sustained cuts and bruises. Three passengers, all from route 1, Oneida, received bumps, cuts and bruises. They were Raymond Christjohn, 18, William Danforth, 19, and Keith Skenandore, 20.

Cornelius told officers he swerved to avoid a small animal that darted into the path of his car.

2nd Defendant in Fraud Case Gets Initial Hearing

The second man to be charged with theft by fraud of more than $3,500 from an Ohio building materials firm requested a preliminary hearing Friday.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer set June 24 for the hearing for Rodney Manty, 32, Mahtomedi, Minn. Manty is the former manager of the Appleton office of the Ohio firm, Weather-Tite Window Co., 1649 W. Packard St.

Manty and Lawrence Juneau, route 3, Kaukauna, are accused of receiving $3,527.29 between Dec. 29, 1969 and Sept. 21, 1970 from Weather-Tite, as payment for labor and materials. According to the complaint naming the pair, that work was never performed. Juneau is the operator of Juneau Installation Co.

Weather-Tite, the complaint says, also made payments to one of Juneau's employees who actually did the labor. Schaefer previously authorized a signature bond for Juneau. Manty posted 10 per cent of a $1,500 bond on Friday and signed for the rest.

Juneau previously asked for a preliminary hearing and Schaefer set it for the same time.

Kaukauna Cyclist Hospitalized With Injuries From Crash

A rural Kaukauna motorcyclist was in fair condition this morning at Kaukauna Community Hospital with injuries sustained in a Calumet County accident early today.

Authorities said John Kobussen, 29, route 3, suffered broken ribs and a fractured collarbone. He was taken from the scene of the 1:37 a.m. accident by Larry's Ambulance.

Calumet County police said Kobussen was heading north on the Brant St. John Road, one-half mile south of County Trunk KK, when the motorcyclist he was driving plummeted off the road into the ditch, throwing him off.

Disturbed Youths In Area Benefit By $8,000 Grant

The Lost River School, Inc., a nonprofit day-care facility near Wautoma, has received $8,000 in federal funds toward the operation of a demonstration project for emotionally disturbed junior high school aged youths in Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca, Green Lake, Fond du Lac and Waushara counties.

The announcement was made recently by John Pekarek of the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services, Division of Mental Hygiene, in Madison.

"The purpose of the facility is to provide educational and social experiences for youths who are not succeeding in regular public school settings in the hope that they can be returned to their regular classrooms. Working with county and private social agencies, guidance centers and schools, the program is intended to provide a coordinated and individualized program for each student's needs."

Local institutions will be involved closely in the program and progress of each boy or girl. Local control and responsibility will be maintained in the care of disturbed youngsters while hopefully effecting a saving in tax dollars compared to the high cost of institutional placement.

A drive for private donors and individuals who wish to make contributions to the project is under way. Persons may contact Dennis Kral, route 3, Kaukauna.

Teachers May Qualify for Social Security in Summer

This is the time of year when children think of summer vacation, teachers think of relaxation and recuperation.

If you are a teacher and are at least 62, you may be eligible for Social Security benefits during the summer months. Some school systems pay teachers for 12 months; however, they earn the pay during the nine months of teaching.

The word earn is very important to the Social Security Administration. For example,

Disturbed Youths In Area Benefit By $8,000 Grant

The Lost River School, Inc., a nonprofit day-care facility near Wautoma, has received $8,000 in federal funds toward the operation of a demonstration project for emotionally disturbed junior high school aged youths in Outagamie, Winnebago, Waupaca, Green Lake, Fond du Lac and Waushara counties.

The announcement was made recently by John Pekarek of the Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services, Division of Mental Hygiene, in Madison.

"The purpose of the facility is to provide educational and social experiences for youths who are not succeeding in regular public school settings in the hope that they can be returned to their regular classrooms. Working with county and private social agencies, guidance centers and schools, the program is intended to provide a coordinated and individualized program for each student's needs."

Local institutions will be involved closely in the program and progress of each boy or girl. Local control and responsibility will be maintained in the care of disturbed youngsters while hopefully effecting a saving in tax dollars compared to the high cost of institutional placement.

A drive for private donors and individuals who wish to make contributions to the project is under way. Persons may contact Dennis Kral, route 3, Kaukauna.

Kimberly Sets Program for Preschoolers

KIMBERLY — More than 200 pre-kindergarten pupils have registered for the summer program which begins Monday at Westside Elementary School, according to Principal Ivol Van Handel.

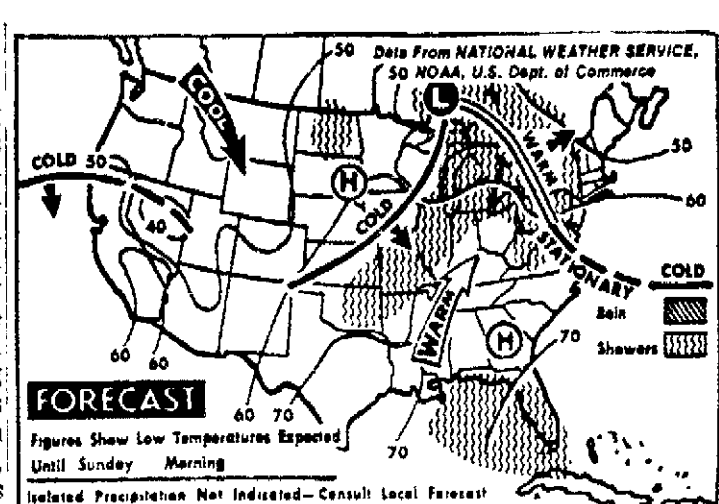

The federally funded program is unique in that it will be based on testing students in a number of areas, Van Handel said. Plans call for two teachers, each with a high school helper, to work with about 20 pupils per week long session. Morning and afternoon sessions are planned with students attending two-hour sessions each day for the week.

Body coordination and maturity of actions will be observed, and vision and hearing tests given. Results will warn future teachers of difficulties they may expect with particular children. Immediate concentration on each problem area will begin, and continue in fall kindergarten classes.

A second battery of testing will deal with basic experiences covering language, mathematics, science and social information. Student response will show strong and weak points in these areas. "The partially combined results will show the kindergarten teacher this fall where each child has learning deficiencies. It further shows where the group is weak in preschool learning. Once again, we expect this to provide us with much early information that previously took weeks to discover," said Van Handel.

Teachers involved will be Miss Mary Rolfsen and Miss Gayle Reader.

SHOWERS ARE FORECAST TODAY for areas in the Great Lakes States, Midwest, East and Florida. There will be warm weather through much of the South and cool weather in the West. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Gruber and the dancers were arrested in the early hours of May 20 following a performance which Oshkosh police officers raided, claiming it was lewd and obscene. Your Problems

Acceptable Outlets Needed by Youngsters

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Thank you for your Twelve Rules for Rearing Children. Number Three is, "Help your child find socially acceptable outlets for anger and hostility." What are "socially acceptable outlets?" Please print my letter and elaborate on your answer. I'll bet I am not the only mother who needs help with this. — H. J., Syracuse Reader

Dear H. J.: Bottled emotions can cause a variety of physical problems — migraines, ulcers, colitis, and skin rashes, to name a few. Uncontrolled emotions can cause problems, too—such as broken heads, missing teeth, swollen eyes, etc.

All children experience anger, hostility and frustration. They should be encouraged to express these normal feelings in ways that are not destructive to themselves or others. For example: Encourage your child to play games that allow him to make noise and get rid of energy. You can make a game of breaking old toys or smashing cheap dishes. Let your child know that hitting a punching bag—but never people—is a good outlet. Any sport that produces fatigue is excellent—jumping up and down or running around the block. Beating drums or blowing a trumpet can be useful, too.

Children who are taught early in life to get rid of hostile feelings in a socially acceptable manner do not punch teachers, beat their wives, or become involved in street fights and tavern brawls.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My cousin came to live with us when her husband died last year. B is in her middle 60's and in unusually good health. We are in our 40's and I wish we felt and looked as well as she does. My husband and I invited B to make her home with us because we wanted to be kind, not because she is rich. Nothing was said about room and board but B offered to pay $50 a month. (This is peanuts when one considers her income, to say nothing of her stocks and bonds.)

The other evening B announced out of a clear blue sky, "You will be wealthy when I die." My husband said nothing but he was thinking plenty. We do not aspire to be wealthy, Ann, but we could certainly use a little help in paying off our mortgage and putting our kids through school—now.

My cousin won't spend a dime unless she absolutely has to. When the two of us go downtown to do errands we usually stop for a cup of coffee and a piece of pie. She always manages to fiddle in her purse looking for the exact change until I say, "I by Bredow's long-time friend The Rev. S.M. Becker of Sister Bay.

There will be an anniversary dinner at noon Sunday. Elmer Rehbein will be master of ceremonies. Guests will include members of the former parishes served by Bredow in Clinton, Iowa, at St. Paul, Minn., as well as his family.

TOPS Winner Gets Recognition

Mrs. Charles Jandoureck, Appleton, was a state winner in the stork division for the Appleton TOPS club.

She was presented with her award by Mrs. Matt Mauritz, area supervisor from Oshkosh, during the June meeting at Jefferson school. She was unable to attend the convention in Madison. Appleton delegates were Mrs. Wallace Coenen, Mrs. Norbert Vander Putten and Mrs. Lyle Kaddatz.

Guests from Little Chute who want to sponsor a club called "Shooting for Little Start" attended the meeting.

have it." This has happened so many times it's gotten to be a joke.

Why don't people with money realize that the time to give it away is when their relatives need it? Print this if you want to, but no name, please. — Hurt.

Dear Hurt: You say in your opening paragraph that you invited your cousin to live with you because you wanted to be kind, and not because she is rich. If this is true, be kind—and stop complaining because she doesn't fork over sums of money now. If you don't think $50 a month for room and board is enough, say so (in my opinion it's pretty darned little) but don't confuse the issues.

The really sad part of your letter is the fact that the old tightwad is cheating herself of the joy that comes from giving. She is more to be pitied than censured.

Added GI Bill Benefits for Vietnam Vets Hit

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A Senate committee Tuesday was given a difficult and sensitive dilemma to resolve when opponents appeared to attack portions of a bill that would provide supplemental state benefits to those already provided by the federal GI Bill of Rights for Vietnam veterans.

The bill, designed by the state Department of Veterans Affairs and an advisory group of young student veterans, provides for tuition remission for Vietnam veterans in the state's public per cent of high school while 50 universities and vocational schools; tuition grants of $250 per semester for students attending a credited private school drop outs are taking schools; and calls for the creation of a six-man task force of young veterans to meet with high school drop outs when they return from military service to convince them to take advantage of both the GI Bill and state benefits.

John Moses, head of the Department of Veterans Affairs, told the committee the task force of young men is necessary because older veterans are not able to communicate with the young, disaffected, unappreciated veterans, provides for tuition remission for Vietnam veterans in the state's public per cent of high school while 50 universities and vocational schools; tuition grants of $250 per semester for students attending a credited private school drop outs are taking advantage of the bill, he said, and they amount to a significant portion of the veterans. The task force, he said, would travel from military service to the state meeting on a one-to-one basis with the drop outs attempting to demonstrate the value of their own experience and the gains of education and skills through the GI benefits.

In contrast to Moses' testimony that either persons hired through civil service or older veterans could do the work, Robert Doane of Mauston, county veterans service officer, speaking for several service officers said the task force was a waste of money since the 70 state service officers could do the work.

Doane introduced an amendment to the bill calling for the veterans of all state and federal benefits.

Moses said the service officers who were called on by the federal Veterans Administration to conduct a similar program were not successful in increasing the use of veterans benefits, primarily because of their delay in contacting returnees so long that the veterans had made commitments they could not break to return to school.

"You've got to seek these men out," Moses said, "because they're not coming in to the veterans service offices. It's got to be one of their own kind. I couldn't do it. I could counsel 'til I'm blue in the face and not convince one," he added.

Waupaca Lay Panels Start School Study

WAUPACA — More than 80 school district residents have agreed to serve on five Citizens' Advisory Committees which will begin an indepth study of the improvement of instruction and facilities for the Waupaca Unified District.

Letters have been sent to volunteers and the first committee meetings will be at 8 p.m. Monday in the Central Elementary School's multi-purpose room.

At organizational sessions guides will be presented to those who have chosen to serve on the steering committee, the finance committee, the school building and construction committee, the instructional committee and the public relations and campaign committee.

and groups and consider every way to communicate effectively with school district residents. The members of the board of education will serve as resource people in the committee where they chose to serve.

One goal of Monday's meeting is for those who have volunteered to roll up their sleeves and work on improving the Waupaca Joint School District, to set of information with the public, deadlines for the completed committee reports.

The committee structure is to tell the story, develop means designed for a minimum of getting the most out of the meetings and a maximum of individual approach, develop work Supt. Lenn Brittelli said means of contacting individuals Friday.

Waupaca Landfill Site Scheduled to Open During July

WAUPACA — The city's 37-acre landfill site one-half mile north of the city limits off State 49 is being prepared for opening the first two weeks in July.

The health and welfare committee is responsible for the operation of the landfill site and the board of public works does the work.

The city budgeted $14,500 this year for the operation and maintenance of the new site and the existing dump. Last year $9,200 was spent in maintenance and operation at the present site. No separate figure has been revealed for the cost of preparing the new sanitary landfill site.

Jaycettes Install New Officers

Achievements of Members Cited At New London

NEW LONDON — New officers took their posts at the June 3 dinner meeting of the New London Jaycettes. Mrs. Ivan Gruetzmacher is the new president; Mrs. Kenneth Karpi, vice president; Mrs. Richard Stephenson, state director; and Mrs. Roger Mathison, secretary.

Mrs. Stephenson reported that the club was awarded a certificate of commendation from the Wisconsin Association for Mental Health in recognition of the services given by volunteers from the club.

Three new members were initiated into the organization—Mrs. Richard Schmidt, Mrs. John Berg and Mrs. Roger Mathison.

The members were recognized for their achievements over the past year. Mrs. Lyle Malliet and Mrs. Richard Stephenson received SPOKE awards. Mrs. William Allen, Mrs. Thomas Bergman, Mrs. James Ehlike, Mrs. Ivan Gruetzmacher, Mrs. Tim Janke, and Mrs. Ken Karpi each earned the SPARK awards.

Mrs. Robert Freiburger was presented with a certificate of appreciation for her work with the pre-natal course.

The Adult Workshop was recognized as the outstanding project of the year, and Mrs. Ivan Gruetzmacher was cited as its chairman.

Mrs. Charles Borchardt, outgoing president, was recognized for her services to the organization while serving as president.

Year-Old Decision

In July, 1970, the council approved a recommendation from the city plan commission to move to the northside site. That decision was threatened a number of times when some aldermen held out, hoping that the city could join the Towns of Dayton, Farmington and Lind at their new sanitary landfill East Road at Little Hope.

Now, it appears that all obstacles have been removed and the land purchased in July, 1965, for $6,000 will be put to the use for which it was planned.

The new site has tentative state approval.

Permission to transfer from the existing dump to the new site and a license for the new site have been applied for. This existing license has been extended to October and, beginning this year, all sanitary landfill operation licenses will run from Oct. 1 through Sept. 30.

Daily Cover

The landfill method which will go in effect when the north side opens calls for all garbage to be compacted and covered with six inches of fill at the end of each day's operation.

Dumping will be limited to a small area.

"Northside" has a beautiful setting. It's a high plateau of land overlooking the Shambau Slough rimmed on the east by willow, birch, some wild plum and cherry trees. On the south, it is screened by a growth of young native trees.

It is estimated that there is enough room to serve the city's needs for the next 20 to 25 years. City officials, on assurances of the state authorities, believe that the site will be as beautiful when all the land is used up as it is today.

Graduation Is Beginning of Education, FVLH Class Told

It was graduation night Friday for 106 Fox Valley Lutheran High School youths — a night they had awaited for four years, education, you don't know more "short years in which you have accomplished a great deal," they were told.

"But tonight there is danger for you. There is a danger in thinking that you are smarter than you are and have done more than you have," the group was reminded.

Speaking to the FVLH Class of 1971 was the Rev. Donald Nimmer, pastor of St. Paul, Stephenville and Trinity, Elkhart congregations.

It was not a putdown; it was a gentle reminder to the young people that this is only the beginning of education, not an end.

Taking a quote from the Book of Proverbs as his theme, "Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go; keep her, for she is thy life," Nimmer reminded the young people that they are still young — much younger than their parents and teachers.

"Parents, even if they don't have as much book knowledge, have your teachers. Even if you have exceeded their years of education, you don't know more in the field of common sense. Remember, they've got a whole of your lifetime on you," he said.

And teachers, too, he said, play an important part in your future. "If you go to college, then go there to learn, not to protest and destroy. Some people think that as soon as they enter college they know more than the total administration and all their teachers and that it is a privilege for the school to have them," Nimmer stated.

One of the things you learned here in a Christian school, the pastor reminded the youths, is humility. "Remember that lesson," he urged.

"As you go through life, you must remain humble enough to know that you don't know all the answers and that you must keep on learning, but be smart enough to know that you must try to learn."

As a final reminder, Pastor Nimmer told the class, "Keep God's word. That, also, you were taught here. That's one of the reasons your parents sent you here; they cared enough to not only try to give you an education, but a Christian education."

School Census Being Conducted

CLINTONVILLE — Girl Scouts from Troop 288 are presently conducting the school census in the city for the Clintonville school system. This project has been authorized by Supt. V. J. Wadeligh.

Girls participating are Jane Rindt, Terry Rill, Barbara Schroeder, Paula Sengstock, Betsy Olk, Barbara Olk, Dianne Wicker, Cindy Walker, Denise Bessette, Peggy Kersten, Lynn Krueger, Debbie Wiese, Ann McCarthy, Mary Harbath and Vickie Kafka.

The girls had planned to finish the job this week, but callbacks will follow next week.

The scouts will have another paper pick-up Tuesday between 12 noon and 3 p.m. They ask that the paper be placed at the curb to be picked up. They also will collect bottles (which are cleaned and labels removed), flattened tin cans, and rags.

Anyone having odd jobs for the girls should call Denise Bessette, chairman of the job committee. The scouts are earning money to help defray expenses of their European trip planned for next year.

Apply Philosophy

And most of all, he added, apply the philosophy that you have learned here to your lives. "It's not enough to know it. It must be used if it is to profit you and those with whom you come in contact," the minister concluded.

Sharing the platform with Nimmer were two young people who shared the highlights of their past four years and the hopes of the future with their parents and friends. Peggy Tiede and Eric Troge presented their class.

The Rev. G. J. Albrecht, chairman of the FVLH federation, gave the scripture reading, and along with the principal, Rev. Harold Warnke, presented the diplomas.

Calumet Firemen Get Radio Hookup

HILBERT — A volunteer firemen's mutual aid association has been formed in Calumet County, Trustee Willard Franz told the Village Board here this week.

The organization's aim, he said, is to have radio contact throughout the county, with a base radio at Chilton. The county board will be approached to finance the base while the individual fire departments will pay for receivers. The base set and ambulance costs exclusive is expected to cost about $3,000.

Franz said with radio communication there would be increased efficiency, because fire departments could assist each other with a particular type of equipment.

The telephone hookup used now has caused some confusion. Presently, the Chilton fire department has radio contact with the sheriff's department and all firemen. But the base is not strong enough to cover the county, Franz said.

While Chilton pays a third of the operating costs, other cities and Calumet Memorial Hospital will pay $39.50 monthly for police and ambulance costs exclusive.

The new organization's officers are Hilard Brantmeier, Sherwood, president; and Norbert Sturm, Chilton, secretary.

Northeastern Amends Merger Plan

The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission man, had agreed to, excepting one. Anderson has said they hadn't agreed on a second point — what to do with Northeastern's northern five counties.

Clearer Picture

In Friday's action, the committee came up with an amended eight points and a clearer picture of what it apparently is proposing on the governing bodies for the so-called merged organization.

A key amendment was to maintain the present procedure at Northeastern for selection of commissioners — the governor appoints two, with one being from at least two recommendations by the county board, and the county board appoints the third. East of the nine member counties is represented by three commissioners.

This move doesn't assure city COG delegates had contended Wednesday that Bubolz was trying to absorb COG because an equal merger wasn't possible unless all counties quit Northeastern and a new governing board was formed for the letter being sent to COG urging cooperation and consideration of the merger proposals.

In the informal meeting, Roland and Kampo, Town of Menasha chairman, criticized the absence of direct town representation in method for selecting him wasn't indicated.

Governing Board

Bubolz cleared up the commission position on the merger of the governing boards of COG and Northeastern. The two would continue, he said, but Northeastern board would have under State Statute 66.945 which allows for only three commissioners per county in Northeastern.

That it would "respect" the COG board's wishes.

In another amendment, the committee agreed that a state-appointed director should run the merged agencies for one year during the transition period.

The committeemen signed a letter being sent to COG urging cooperation and consideration of the merger proposals.

Wisconsin Bishops Issue 'Sanctity of Life' Statement

MADISON — The bishops of the five Roman Catholic dioceses of Wisconsin, through the Wisconsin Catholic Conference, today issued "An Affirmation of the Sanctity and Dignity of Human Life."

Copies of the statement have been printed in pamphlet form and will be distributed through all Catholic parishes in the state.

The statement pledges the support of the church in positive programs "which deepen respect for the personal value of human life and build a more human society."

Calling for a cooperative effort, it states, "The Wisconsin Catholic Conference believes that all men must work together to alleviate the sufferings of the living."

"We invite others to join in efforts to reduce poverty, increase job and educational opportunities, provide humane care for prisoners, remove the stigma of unwed parenthood, establish proper facilities for the physically and mentally handicapped, abolish racial discrimination and find loving parents for unwanted children."

Emphasizing the concern of the church for the reverence of all human life, the statement affirms, "this reverence is reflected in our abhorrence of war, our loathing of civil violence, our concern for the removal of unjust social conditions."

The statement also stresses the concern that "any weakening of the legal restrictions on abortion would help to diminish the reverence for life now shared by people."

The statement concludes with the affirmation that "human life begins at the time of conception, and that from that time the fetus has the rights of a human person and that its basic right to life may never be superseded by the rights of another."

The Anti-War Lobby Grows

As Senator Mike Mansfield pointed out, the extensive lobbying efforts in Washington are unlikely to change many if any votes about setting a cut-off date for funding our troops in Vietnam. Senators appear to have made up their minds pretty conclusively.

But the activity is one more interesting commentary about the extent of disillusion with the war — and a sign that the Democrats continue to hope that the war can be an issue in next year's elections.

There are some well-known names among the organizers of the lobbying move and a number of men who have had experience in several areas of government. Former senators include Charles Goodell, Joseph Clark, Ernest Gruening and Stephen Young. Former Defense Secretary Clark Clifford who reportedly persuaded President Johnson to start backing away from the war, former Attorney General Ramsey Clark who is being promoted in some quarters as a dark horse for the Democratic presidential nomination, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John Gardner whose name also is sometimes listed as a presidential possibility, former United Nations Ambassador and Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, former Ambassador to France and Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver as well as numerous professional men have stamped a mark of respectability upon the anti-war movement which the Nixon Administration has tried unsuccessfully to ridicule. It's obvious that not only nervous nellys and effete snobs are in the vanguard of those opposed to continued American participation in the war.

However, while the opponents lobbying in Washington can charge that President Nixon has a political motive in planning the winding down of the war to correspond to the elections in 1972, their motives must be equally suspect no matter how much they sincerely believe that the continuation of the war is not in the nation's interest.

A few of the major lobbyists did go on record as doubting former President Johnson's policies including Senators Young and Gruening. Gardner did not mention the war when he resigned from HEW although it was supposed to be a factor in his decision that he could not do much in Washington as long as funds needed in his department were being spent in Vietnam. Mr. Clifford changed his mind about the war after he became Secretary of Defense and he persuaded Mr. Johnson to change his. The others may have privately expressed opposition even if only out of political loyalty they not do so publicly.

Their lack of candor must be considered now when the Republicans are in control of the White House and are at least cutting far back on the American role in Vietnam. It may be convenient for anti-war Democrats to ignore President Johnson's heavy pursuit of military victory during the next election campaign and to aim their fire at the fact that some Americans and a lot of Asians still are dying over there. But there are and will be some amount of doubt about the clarity of their motives for those who did not become publicly anti-war until it became respectable or until the Republicans took over.

Did Shakespeare Foresee My Lai?

"..... there is no king, be his cause never so spotless, if it come to an arbitment of swords, can try it out with all unspotted soldiers: some peradventure have on them the guilt of premeditated and contrived murder; some of beguiling virgins with the broken seals of perjury; some, making the wars their bulwark, that have before gored the gentle bosom of peace with pillage and robbery. Now, if these men have defeated the law and outrun native punishment, though they can outstrip men, they have no wings to fly from God every subject's duty is the king's; but every subject's soul is his own"

Something written to explain away My Lai? Not at all. It is Henry V speaking in the play by William Shakespeare.

It may not have been that Henry or any leaders of his era really were concerned about possible atrocities committed against civilians by their troops even though Shakespeare a couple of centuries later thought of it. But the problem at least had occurred to the literary if not to the military.

There is a further problem mentioned in this conversation before Agincourt. British soldiers named Michael Williams and John Bates are discussing the expected battle. Bates explains away his doubts:

... "we know enough, if we know we are the king's subjects: if his cause be wrong, our obedience to the king wipes the crime of it out of us." Michael responds, "but if the cause be not good, the king himself hath a heavy reckoning to make, when all those legs and arms and heads, chopt off in battle, shall join together at the latter day I am afraid there are few die well that die in battle, for how can they charitably dispose of any thing, when blood is their argument? Now, if these men do not die well, it will be a black matter for the king that led them to it; who to disobey were against all proportion of subjection."

Henry V didn't agree. Agincourt by most standards turned out to be a pretty successful battle except for those who died there although Shakespeare concedes that when Henry VI succeeded he "lost France and made his England bleed" but this is the risk of any war or military victory — the results don't always last for many decades.

But Henry V managed to absolve himself from personal blame both for the actions of his men and for their death and in doing so he absolved his generals and nobles — including the Earl of Westmoreland — interestingly enough.

The New Gray Mare—

It may be part of the trend away from the automobile. Or there may be more time for recreation, more emphasis upon physical activity or simply a cumulative effect of all the cowboy 'n Indian television shows and movies over the last couple of decades.

Anyway, the horse is becoming popular again!

In 1920 a survey by the United States Department of Agriculture reported 25 million horses in the country, the great majority work animals for the farm. The last USAD report concerned 1960 when only 3 million nags were recorded. But private estimates now put the figure at 7.5 million and at this rate the number is expected to reach more than 14 million in the next decade. The big difference from earlier years of this century — or earlier centuries — is that nine out of ten horses today are used for recreation and most under saddle.

There's another difference. The majority are stabled in urban or suburban areas and therein lies a problem if the numbers keep on rising and neighbors want to keep on friendly terms. The odor of manure, ramshackle outbuildings, pollution and trampled perennials do not make for happy neighborhoods.

However, the center of horse country is coming up with proposed solutions. Dallas now has an ordinance which does not prohibit horses within the city limits — how could such a thing be done anywhere in Texas!! — but regulates them. Each horse must have about one-third of an acre on which to roam although the keeper of two horses need have only one-half acre for both. A corral must have at least 800 square feet per horse and be completely enclosed. And there must be a roofed stable with at least 100 square feet per horse. In addition, other such communities with an increasing number of nags are pushing for sound zoning and sanitation ordinances. And in the east in particular, extensive riding trails are being developed out of the way of farmers' fields or backyard swimming pools. Abandoned railroad rights of way are reserved in many cases for hikers, bikers, snomobilers and horseback riders.

It's doubtful that the horse will replace the automobile as a means of transportation even to counteract air pollution. It's too hard to find a convenient stall during the day and parking spaces with meters just don't fill the bill.

But the horse seems to be coming back. Lots of children at least will be happy even if their parents aren't quite so hi-yi-yippie about it.

A SCIENTIFIC 'HOT LINE'

Smithsonian Institution Center keeps contact with a network of 3,000 volunteer correspondents in more than 100 nations

Behind Stagflation

Short-Lived Phenomena Unit Is 'Hot Line' for Scientists

BY DON GUY
Associated Press Writer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — It took naturalist Charles Darwin five years to make his scientific voyage aboard the Beagle. And it was another 23 years before his "Origin of Species" theory on the development of life startled the world in 1859.

Today science has accelerated so rapidly that some events such as a meteorite fall have to be probed within hours or valuable clues to outer space and the planets may be lost.

The Smithsonian Institution's Center for Short-Lived Phenomena was formed three years ago to cope with the explosive growth of scientific knowledge.

Serving as a scientific "hot line" the center maintains contact with a network of 3,000 volunteer correspondents in more than 100 countries. Most of the correspondents are scientists or associated with universities, but some are just interested laymen who live in out-of-the-way places.

"Sudden short-term events often give a scientist more knowledge of his field than ever occurs in a steady state" says Robert Citron, director of the center.

The Center utilizes the worldwide communications network of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory but relies upon Air Mail postcards for many of its notifications.

There is no typical "short-lived" event but major volcanic eruptions, of which there were 22 reported last year, major earthquakes (19) and big oil spills (16) constitute the three most numerous categories. A total of 113 events was reported last year and 328 in the three years of operation.

The Center was the first to report widely mercury contamination in Lake St. Clair on the border of the United States and Canada early last May. Since that date worldwide contamination of both ocean and fresh water fish has been recorded.

Ray Decay Rapidly
Scientists like to study meteorites as soon as possible because they are literally data banks of radioactivity picked up in millions of years of orbiting in space. After plunging into the atmosphere their valuable cargo of gamma rays starts to decay within hours.

The Center doesn't take time to check out a report in detail if they feel it comes from a reliable source since they consider it more important to get qualified scientists on the scene as rapidly as possible. For every ancient sea monster that turns out to be a decayed whale, as one did in Mexico, there are dozens of valid tips that get scientists on the scene while the phenomenon is still occurring.

The Center also records how man is in the process of destroying his natural environment. The Center has listed 17 major pollution ecological events.

One incident reported by the Center involved the discovery of a Stone Age tribe of Indians in the jungles of Surinam in South America.

The Smithsonian alerted anthropologists as soon as they received a report from the missionary on his discovery of the primitive Akurio tribe.

In the same report, the missionary mentioned that some members of the tribe had stolen some knives, pots and machetes from his camp while he was holding a religious service for fellow Indians. Since stone tools enforce their own cultural patterns, the anthropologists noted with disappointment that the Akurio tribe had stumbled into the Iron Age overnight.

Wisconsin Report

State Supreme Court Probably Will Get Redistricting Job

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Enigma of the year in state political affairs is the curtain of silence that has descended on a topic that normally is one of the most exciting in the statehouse in the first legislative term of a new decade.

A mystery wrapped in the enigma is an indifference that appears to be nearly total among the outside interest groups that usually keep up the pressure on reluctant or fearful legislators on the question of redistricting for congressional, Assembly and Senate representation purposes.

This is the sixth month of the regular legislative term. The state constitution is explicit. In the first session after the completion of the decennial United States government census, the legislature is required to adjust the population of legislative districts to reflect the changes in population in the aggregate, and its distribution, in the last decade.

Yet a citizen concerned about political boundary adjustments this year in the spirit of the "one man, one vote" rule imposed in uncompromising terms by the United States courts could sit in the galleries of either Wisconsin legislative house for a week without hearing the word reapportionment mentioned.

What is going on?

Court Will Decide

The explanation is that in a divided government, the principal men have long since concluded that they won't be able to come to an agreement on the delicate question and that in this decade, as in the last, the reapportionment will be achieved, if it is to be achieved, by order of the State Supreme Court.

A casual poll of representative legislators shows a telling fatalism. The Republicans who rule the Senate are not likely to accept the kind of redistricting that will be devised by the Democrats, who rule in the Assembly. And the Democrats of the Assembly will be equally loath to accept the kind of political map that will be drawn by the Republican Senate, in this consensus.

Given that conclusion, it is not difficult to understand why the unpleasant and enervating haggling has been put off by tacit consent of both parties. The more important issues of budgets and taxes and half a hundred others that command attention will be given priority.

Will Demand Decision

Then the houses will suspend deliberations for a month or two — possibly more — and return in the fall for unfinished business including the tiresome fight to a draw on redistricting. When the record shows that an agreement is impossible the court upon its own initiative, or more likely on the petition of some dissatisfied citizens as in the 1960s, will be asked to use its inherent powers to make good the default of the legislature which is directly responsible for the task under the constitution.

This is not to indict the legislators for deliberate shunning of duty. The task is not an easy one as the court demonstrated 10 years earlier when it delivered itself of some distinctly implausible districts.

It must be remembered that it is possible to draw the map to provide districts of arithmetical exactitude, but yet to favor the Democrats. It is possible to carve it up equally to favor Republicans. Legislators are not saints. They are human, perhaps more so than constituents.

Look to Elections

The chief men of the Senate are preparing re-election campaigns. They would be remarkable, indeed, if they did not show some reluctance to facing blocks of new voters next year. Many of the new Democrats come from marginal districts. They are apprehensive about boundary changes. There are complications in Milwaukee, which has had a population shrinkage, and where there will be profound repercussions in the redistricting of the city council following upon the revision of Assembly districts.

What stands out most clearly in the legislature's dilemma is that assignment of the reapportionment job to the legislature was a mistake of otherwise superbly enlightened constitutional fathers. Another default this year may bring the understanding to force reform.

Citizen Participation In Regional Planning

Editor The Post-Crescent:

Citizen participation and commissioner participation in the Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission has diminished over the past five years to a point where a few men run the show. In 1965, Northeastern's predecessor, the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission, had over 300 persons involved in advisory committee activities.

Conversely, the Fox Valley Council of Governments, the other Fox Cities-based regional planning agency, has over 100 local officials and residents involved on committees for 1971-72.

Perhaps, there are two

Church Women; Mrs. Laverne Gallitz, vice president; Mrs. Julian Rowe, recording secretary; Mrs. C. L. Lockwood, statistical secretary.

reasons for this considerable difference in citizen participation. One is that a 9-county region requires too much time of the citizen away from his job in traveling to committee meetings, and the other is that one person is interested in controlling the commission, and he has done so.

This must raise some serious questions.

Why is it so difficult for local politicians to see that the further removed planning is from the people the less interest and effective opportunity for participation in the planning process they have, the less influence the politician can have and for certain the less meaningful regional planning becomes for local community development.

Also, why should the adverse self-serving pursuits of one man play such an over-important role in the final outcome of regional planning? The creation of the planning area and its organization should be accomplished by and for the people through their elected public officials.

It should be of interest to the local politicians to compare the amount of effective citizen participation in both regional planning commissions. There is quite a difference. And, planning is for all people.

Pattin's 4-Hitter Not Good Enough As Brewers Lose

CLEVELAND (AP) — If there is a subbasement in the American League's West Division, the Milwaukee Brewers seem determined to find it.

"We're on a one-way street," manager Dave Bristol summed up before his Brewers lost an eighth consecutive game Friday, opening a weekend road stand with a 2-1 loss to the Cleveland Indians.

Milwaukee left seven runners on base while Cleveland stranded only one. The statistics represent one of Milwaukee's more pressing problems this season: too few hits and even fewer hits when they are needed.

"When you're down, nothing goes right," Bristol remarked.

Chambless Homers

A rookie, Christ Chambless, hit a two-run homer off pitcher Marty Pattin (6-6) in the seventh inning after the Milwaukee hurler had allowed Cleveland only two hits in the initial six frames. He held the Indians to a total of only four hits.

Dave May had given Patton a 1-0 advantage in the sixth by beating out a slow roller, making second on a wild pitch, galloping to third on an infield out, and coming home on a Bill Voss single.

May tried again in the eighth, beating out a grounder. A sacrifice moved him to second, and he went to third on a ground out. But there the Brewer's tying run died.

Ironically, the Brewers' eight-game losing spell was inaugurated by the Indians when they were visiting Milwaukee June 2.

Harper 0-for-20

The Brewer bats remained frightfully silent. Tommy Harper, the club's top hitter last season, now has made a score of trips to the plate without a hit. Frank Trepedino got his first hit in seven trips.

Pattin doubled in the seventh. But teammate Ron Theobald grounded out to pitcher Steve Dunning, who—like Pattin—had allowed but one hit in the first five innings.

Chambless, by contrast, has collected eight hits in his last 17 trips against Brewer moundsmen. His 385-foot homer scored Vada Pinson, who had singled.

Hassle Costly For Spanish Bullfight Ace

TOLEDO, Spain (AP) — Manuel Benitez Perez, 35, "El Cordobes" Spain's No. 1 bullfighter, was fined $357 Friday for trying to hit a fan in the Toledo bullring Thursday.

The fine was levied by the civil governor of the province of Toledo after El Cordobes jumped the bullring barrier and dived into the seats after a man who had insulted his performance. Police intervened.

The mop-haired bullfighter, who earns more than $1 million annually, is scheduled to fight Sunday in Jaen in the country's first closed circuit color telecast. The program will be shown in the United States, Italy, West Germany, Japan and Latin America.

Million-to-One Chance, But Pro Gets Back to Back Aces

NORWICH, England (AP) — John Hudson hit on a million-to-one chance in the $16,800 Marini Golf Tournament Friday. He scored two consecutive holes in one.

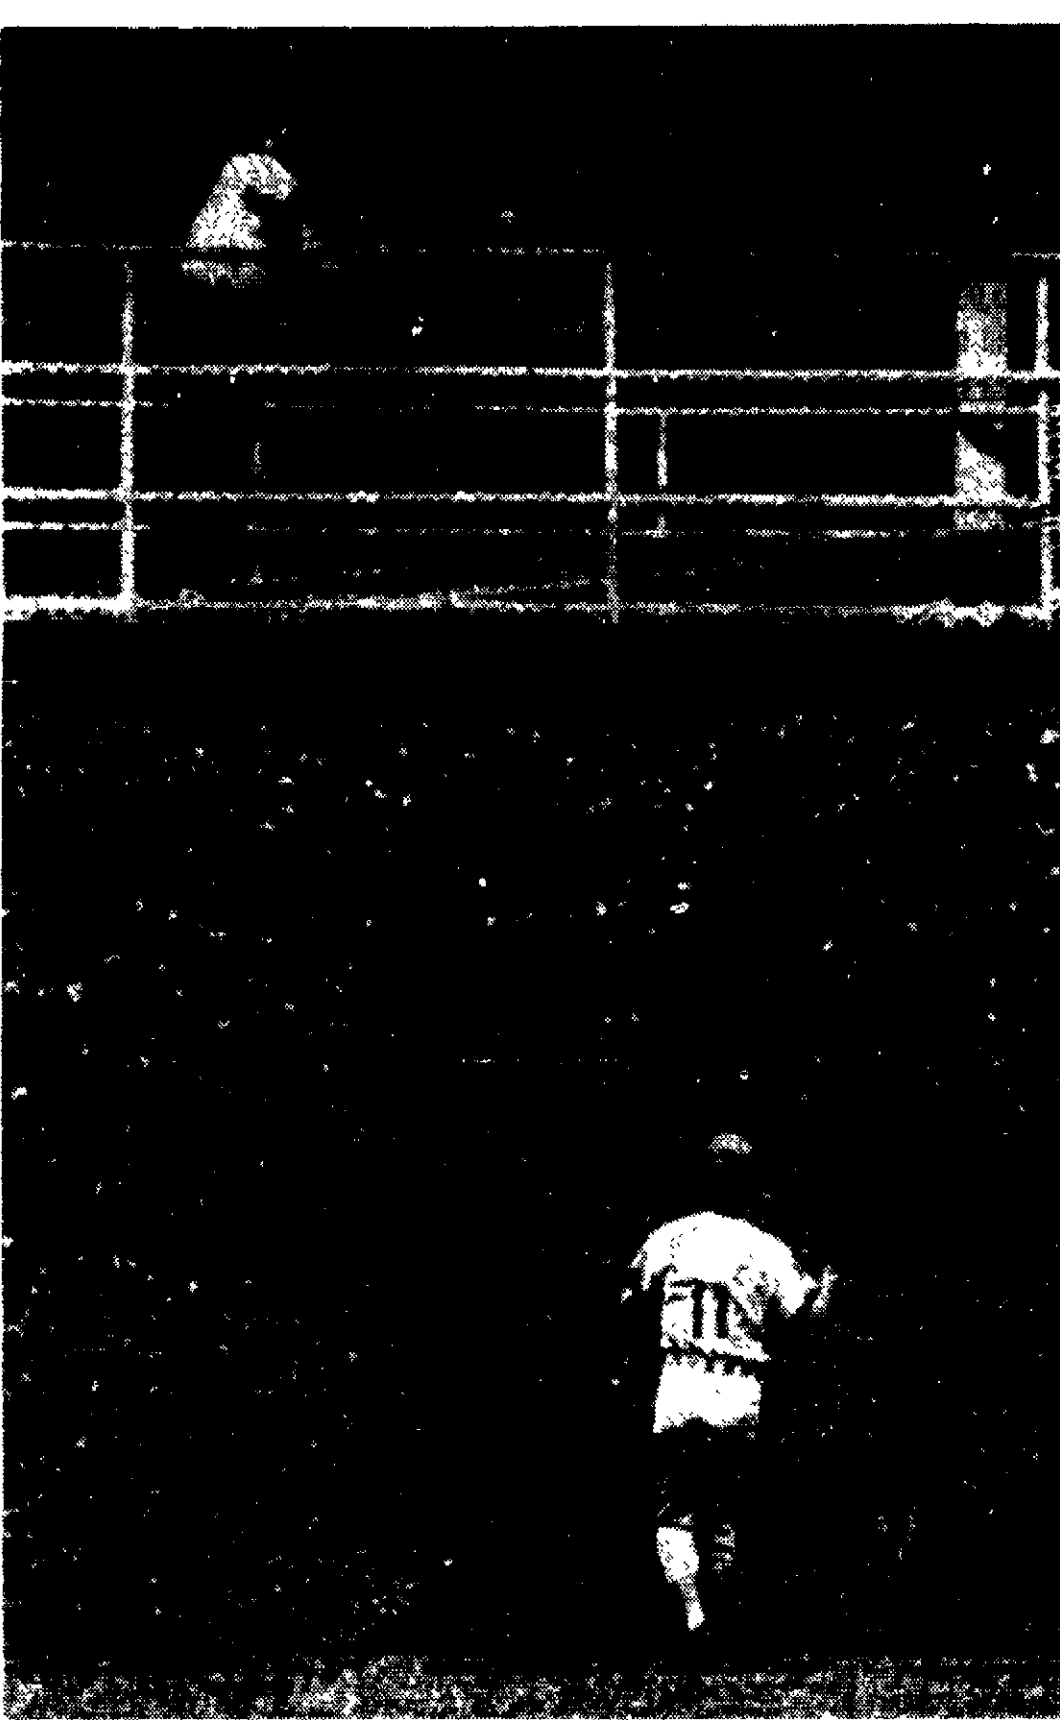

The 26-year-old pro got his first on the 194-yard 11th with a four iron. Then, after a 20-minute wait to tee up, he got his second on the 311-yard 12th.

Hudson's drive was downwind. "I hit the shot on what seemed the right line," he commented later. "It pitched just short of the green and trickled in at the last gasp."

Hudson finished with a second round 72 for a 36-hole total of 144, five strokes back of the leader, Bernard Hunt at 139.

The record books show only two previous successive holes in one in Britain, by Roger Game at Walmer in 1944 and Dr. Robert Anderson at Chorlton two years ago.

LaCrosse, Chippewa Falls To Meet in Baseball Finals

MARION — LaCrosse Logan and Chippewa Falls meet in the finals of the WIAA State Baseball Tournament this afternoon.

Logan pushed six runs across the plate in the bottom of the seventh inning to oust Beloit Memorial, 9-8, in the first game Friday to earn one berth.

Chippewa Falls nipped Monona Grove, 1-0, in an eight inning pitchers' battle for the other berth.

Chippewa Falls nipped Monona Grove, 1-0, in an eight inning pitchers' battle for the other berth.

Brian Brose, the 10th Logan batter in the inning, singled home the winning run with two out in the seventh. LaCrosse sent Beloit starter Paul Yankee out of the box after he loaded the bases in the seventh on two walks and a single by winning pitcher Ken Happel.

Two-Run Triple

Frank Rothrock, who was charged with the loss, had Gordy Rieber knock in Logan's first run of the inning, and fourth of the game, with a fielder's choice. Jeff Stuhr followed with a sacrifice fly for another run. Bob Kaiser walked, and Mike Pfennig tripled, knocking in the seventh and eighth runs.

Brose then singled home Pfennig with the winning run.

The teams were tied after three innings. Beloit got a run-scoring single from Jack Ryer in the first and a two run homer by Leon Scharlau in the third. Logan scored two in the second on an error and a RBI single by Happel, and added another in the third on a hit batter, a sacrifice and a single by Kaiser.

An error, a two-run single by Jeff Hanaman and a RBI single by Rick Wells gave Beloit four runs in the fifth and an 8-3 edge.

Happel gave up seven hits, walked seven and fanned four in picking up the win for LaCrosse, now 11-7. Yankee issued four hits, two walks and struckout five before leaving in the seventh. Rothrock walked two and gave up two hits in relief.

Only Run

Memorial ended the season with a 13-7 mark.

Howie Vavra singled home Jeff Perrenoud with the only run of the game in the bottom of the eighth as Chippewa Falls won its 13th game of the year against four losses.

Perrenoud opened the inning with a double and moved to third on Mike Balsiger's sacrifice.

Rick Rosenow went the distance for the winners. Rosenow gave up seven hits, walked six and fanned 10.

Waupaca Wins, 4-3

Kewaunee's Augustine Hurls 4-Hit Shutout

MENASHA — Jerry Augustine, young Kewaunee southpaw, fired a 4-hit shutout and crashed two home runs to lead his team past Freedom, 3-0, in the Menasha Athletic Association Baseball Tournament Friday night.

Waupaca shaded Sheboygan, 4-3, in the nightcap and was scheduled to meet Kewaunee in a semi-final contest this afternoon. Menasha and Bonduel are paired in the other. The third place and championship contests are slated tonight.

Augustine, a year out of high school, struck out 17 Freedom batters, including nine in a row from the fifth through the seventh frames, and only walked two.

He cracked a bases-empty homer to center field in the fourth inning and repeated with a shot to right in his next turn at bat in the seventh. Kewaunee picked up its other run in the third.

Gary Hodkiewicz worked the first eight innings and Jim Ludwig hurled the ninth for Freedom. They allowed nine safeties.

1-Hitter Until 9th

Waupaca's Ken Tappa had a 1-hitter going until the ninth against Sheboygan but the latter rallied for two runs and he was relieved by Frank Leischow.

who doused the fire. The lakemen took advantage of Rick Reiss' wildness for three runs in the first. After three straight walks, Doug Peterson cleared the bases with a triple.

Chuck Kometer homered for Sheboygan in the second for his team's only hit until the ninth.

Bob Weller cracked a bases-empty homer for Waupaca in the fifth and Reiss led off the ninth with a circuit clout. With one out, Dave Gehr singled and Tappa was replaced by Leischow.

Following an infield out, Dick Larsen singled home Gehr but a force play ended the game.

Retires 10 Straight

Reiss, after his shaky start, finished strong and retired the final 10 hitters. He only allowed two hits, walked five and struck out 14. Tappa, in his eighth and one-third innings, didn't pass anyone and accumulated eight strikeouts.

The line scores:

Monona Grove had its chances to win, but left 13 runners stranded. The losers, now 18-3, left bases loaded in the first and fourth innings, and left two runners on in the second, fifth and seventh.

Doug Swenson went six innings for Monona Grove, giving up just three hits, walking one and fanning one. Dick Peterson, who walked one, struck out three and gave up two hits, both in the eighth, was charged with the loss.

Greg Howell, former Appleton Fox, is off to a strong start in the Wisconsin State Baseball League.

Howell, in his opening appearance for the Green Bay Blue Ribbons last weekend, socked a home run and two doubles to spark an 11-2 win over Horicon.

Only two league games are scheduled this weekend — neither of them involving Fox Cities teams Menasha and Appleton. Horicon plays at Wausau tonight, and Beloit visits Sheboygan Sunday.

Gossage and Ewing Lead Foxes to Win

Appleton '9' To Wind Up Home Stand

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The Appleton Foxes combined timely hitting with precision pitching and fielding to crush Clinton, 8-1, in a Midwest League game here Friday night.

Right-hander Rich Gossage pitched his fourth straight victory, and sixth in seven decisions, with a dazzling 12-strikeout, 6-hit, 2-walk performance.

Gossage was backed up by perhaps the strongest lineup the Foxes have been able to field this season. Slugging Sam Ewing, playing in only his second game since a 5-week disablement, swatted a pair of doubles, including a 3-run blow.

Catcher Bruce Kimm, who had been slated to be the Foxes'

No. 1 catcher, played in his first game of the year to end six weeks on the disabled list. He had one hit in two tries, before being relieved by Joe Talley in the final two frames, and was strong defensively.

Reliable Ross Sapp slapped a 2-run single during the Foxes' decisive 6-run fifth inning.

Play Here Tonight
Tonight, the Foxes wind up an 8-game home stand with a singleton against the Pilots at Goodland Field. Last night's victory gave the Foxes a 1 1/2-game lead over Cedar Rapids.

Gossage worked five 1-2-3 inn asings as he overpowered the visitors. His first four innings were perfect before first baseman Stafford stepped up to launch the fifth inning. After fouling off a bunt attempt, the Cleveland edged Milwaukee 2-1 left-handed hitting infielder clouted a wrong-field home run to left, ending Gossage's no hit and shutout bids.

The Clinton lead proved to be

Ewing walloped a drive off the left center field fence to clear the bases and end Ford's stay.

Ironically, Ewing's average fell six points even though he had a 2-for-4 game. He is now hitting .539 for the seven games he has played this season — on 14 hits in 26 tries.

Short-lived, and Gossage scattered five singles the rest of the way.

Brian Downing led off the tide-turning fifth for the Foxes with a walk. After Marty Morrison and Kimm were retired, Gossage kept the rally alive with a single to center. Dan Rourke worked Clinton starter Brian Ford for a walk.

Sapp singled sharply to right, scoring a pair of runs. Rourke also came in when the right fielder bobbled the ball. Jerry Hairston walked, and Lamar

Johnson was hit by a pitch to reload the bases.

The Foxes added a final pair in the eighth. Morrison lifted a high fly to short right which fell for a double. Talley singled him home and took second on the center fielder's error. Talley took third on a passed ball and scored when catcher Bill Foss threw the ball past third on a pickoff play.

FOX TALES: The Foxes' Larry Linville has left for a 2-week National Guard stint, while Bucky Dent has left for a weekend of military duty. Appleton has released veteran pitcher Gary Cortopassi. Infielder Bill Clark has rejoined the team after surgery but hasn't been put on the active list. The attendance Friday was 842, bringing the Foxes' 1971 total to 13,718.

Rojas Aids Royals With Bat, Bosox Handed 6-3 Defeat

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kansas City's baseball faithful might have ideas about stuffing the Cookie jar to land themselves an All-Star second baseman.

But their favorite son is paying more attention to scoreboard totals than election returns.

Cookie Rojas, whose name can be found among the American League batting leaders but not on the All-Star ballot, slammed a three-run triple that propelled the red-hot Royals to a 6-3 victory over Boston Friday night.

"I come to play, day in, day out," says Rojas, whose .310 average tops all AL infielders. "And when you're winning—well, there's nothing like playing for a winner."

The winning habit has caught on for the Royals, who have reeled off nine victories in their last 10 starts to move within six games of the West Division lead.

Chisox Lose

The New York Yankees topped first-place Oakland 6-4; Baltimore's streaking East Division pace-setters downed the Chicago White Sox 8-5 for their ninth straight victory.

Detroit trimmed Minnesota 4-1; fouling off a bunt attempt, the Cleveland edged Milwaukee 2-1 left-handed hitting infielder clouted a wrong-field home run to left, ending Gossage's no hit and shutout bids.

The National League San Francisco nipped the New York Mets 3-2 in 10 innings; Los Angeles blasted Montreal 12-1; Pittsburgh rocked St. Louis 11-4; Houston shaded Atlanta 5-4; San Diego slipped past Philadelphia 2-1 and Cincinnati clipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

Luis Tiant, making his first start for Boston since being recalled from the minors, filled the bases on three walks in the first inning at Kansas City. Rojas promptly cleared them with a triple to left-center field and then scored what proved to be the winning run on Chuck Harrison's sacrifice fly.

Ed Kirkpatrick homered for the Royals. Reggie Smith and George Scott connected for the Red Sox, who have dropped four of their last five games.

The three RBI gave Rojas 28 for the season, matching his 1970 total for the Royals, who picked him up in a trade with St. Louis last June 13. He has scored 29 runs, socked 12 doubles, a triple and four home runs, and stolen five bases.

Despite those credentials, however, the 32-year-old veteran placed only sixth in the early All-Star second base returns with a total of 3,180 write-in votes.

The Yankees chased nine-game winner Jim "Catfish" Hunter during a four-run eighth inning uprising that sent them past the A's at Oakland. Jerry Kenney's triple, a double by Bobby Murcer and a two-run single by Thurman Munson were the key blows.

Reggie Jackson and Dave Duncan homered for the A's.

Powell Homers

Slump-ridden Boog Powell, who led the All-Star first base candidates in the early balloting despite a below-.200 average, cracked a two-run homer and a single as the Orioles flattened the White Sox.

Ellie Hendricks and Don Buford also hit homers for Baltimore, helping Dave McNally post his ninth pitching triumph.

Giants Tip NY on Wild Pitch; Pirates Crush Cards, 11-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The bumbling, fumbling San Francisco Giants found a way to win. It was easy. They played The Gang That Couldn't Throw Straight.

Slump-bogged San Francisco used a wild pitch to score the winning run in the 10th inning of Friday night's 3-2 triumph over the New York Mets, only the Giants' second victory in June. "It was a human error," said relief pitcher Tug McGraw, whose pitch sailed past catcher Jerry Grote and allowed Hal Lanier to score from second base. Yes, second base. Grote couldn't find the ball.

"I threw a fastball and Grote was expecting a screwball," said McGraw of the fouled-up play. "I thought he called for a fastball and he says he called for a screwball. One of us made a mistake." New York Manager Gil Hodges also made a mistake by protesting the play, claiming that a fan touched the ball after it bounced off Grote's glove, and that the runner should have only been awarded one base. Hodges was thrown out by Umpire Lee Weyer.

Mets in Second
It was strictly a judgement call to award home plate to Lanier, Weyer volleyed back.

The loss plunged the Mets to second place in the dizzy National League East race, 1½ games behind the Pittsburgh Pirates, who whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 11-4. The Cards now are third, 1½ games behind the Pirates and 10 percentage points behind the Mets.

In the other NL games Friday, the Houston Astros topped the Atlanta Braves 5-4; the Cincinnati Reds ripped the Chicago Cubs 4-3; the Los Angeles Dodgers routed the Montreal Expos 12-1 and the San Diego Padres trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1.

Actually, all the difference of opinion in the New York-San Francisco affair wouldn't have happened in the first place had not the Mets' Dave Marshall delivered a tying, two-run homer with two out in the ninth and sent the game into extra innings.

McCovey Homers
The Giants held a 2-0 lead on Willie McCovey's two-run homer before Marshall, a pinch-hitter, laced Jerry Johnson's serve into the left field bullpen to make it 2-2, with a leadoff double in the 10th before charging home with two out.

Until this victory, San Francisco's Jones swoon included eight losses in nine games as the Giants lost a little of their big lead in the West.

Girl Shortstop Becomes First, Last, in Baseball League

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Midvale Midget Baseball League moved its season into full swing Tuesday as it has each summer since 1953, but with one big exception.

This year, one of its teams has a girl playing shortstop.

Claudia Brenner, 10, won a berth on the Messner's Inc. midget team during tryouts this spring. She's the first girl to play the traditionally male sport here, and might well be the last.

At first, the school community recreation department wasn't going to let her play. It has raised among league sponsors and teammates. Says Claudia, "I just like to play in the future girls will have to form their own league if they want to play."

The concession came after Claudia's father, a social worker at the University of Wisconsin, told the board of education that Claudia "won the position and has been accepted by the boys."

She immediately proved her worth Tuesday in Messner's first game by retiring the opponents in the third inning, bases loaded, with a nearly fielded flip to the third baseman.

She shrugs off the fuss she has raised among league sponsors and teammates. Says Claudia, "I just like to play in the future girls will have to form their own league if they want to play."

10,000 Square Foot Home Wilt's Huge Dream House Features Everything For Big and Little People

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain is having a $1 million house built for himself with dimensions befitting a man 7 feet, 1½ inches tall.

Take the bedroom, for instance. It's 1,000 square feet in size. The ceiling is 14 feet high. The bed is 8 feet wide, 9 feet long and reposes on a raised 13-by-25-foot platform.

It's like using Madison Square Garden for a snooze.

But it's only part of the dream house the Los Angeles Lakers center is having built on a three-acre hillside lot in the exclusive Bel-Air section. Neighboring completion, it overlooks Santa Monica and downtown Los Angeles on one side and the San Fernando Valley on the other.

Designing it posed a unique headache for architect David Rich and interior decorator "Corky" Korkowski, who admits the challenge was "monumental."

The problem: how do you design and furnish a home for so massive a man—a home in straight victory as Pittsburgh pounded St. Louis. Ellis got the seventh-inning relief help from Dave Giusti after keying two rallies with singles.

Stargell Raps 21st
Joe Torre's two-run single off Ellis in the fifth cut the Pittsburgh lead to 6-3 but Willie Stargell ripped his 21st homer in the seventh and the Pirates capped it with a four-run burst in the ninth.

3 Gopher Balls

Tony Perez hit a tie-breaking home run with one out in the eighth inning to carry Cincinnati over Chicago. Perez' homer, his eighth of the season and third by the Reds in the game, came off Bill Hands.

Hands had earlier served successive gopher balls to Tommy Helms and Lee May in the sixth.

Richie Allen knocked in four runs with two homers and a sacrifice fly and Al Downing pitched a five-hitter for Los Angeles. Wes Parker had four hits for the Dodgers, who blasted off with an eight-run second in-

Senate Passes Bill to Protect National Guard

Measure Provides State Paid Attorney In Case of Charges

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — An uneasiness that has affected National Guardsmen since an Ohio State Grand Jury investigation of the incidents surrounding the deaths of four students on the Kent State University campus at the hands of the National Guard, would be alleviated by a bill that passed the Senate easily Thursday.

The measure provides that the governor must name a state-financed attorney to represent any National Guard member charged as a result of action in his capacity as a member of the guard. At present the governor, on the advice of the attorney general, may appoint an attorney.

Sen. Kurt Frank, an officer in the Wisconsin National Guard told the Senate that officers are fearful of giving orders and enlisted men are wary of following orders during disturbance duty as a result of the concern that they may be charged and have to pay an attorney to defend themselves as a result of their action. The bill would relieve that outside concern and bring more order and obedience to the ranks, he said.

Without discussion the Senate passed a measure that would make punishment of traffic violations uniform throughout the state. The bill would remove the present element of chance that determines whether a person is prosecuted in a civil or criminal proceeding and whether he will be subject to a forfeiture or imprisonment.

The bill categorizes types of traffic violations and sets procedures for making a deposit with the court to pay a forfeiture for failure to appear for civil violations and lists offenses to be considered as criminal violations. All are to be treated uniformly throughout the state whether the violator is arrested by municipal, county or state officers and whether he is taken to a municipal or county court.

Forfeitures would be permitted for the first violation of state laws including: reasonable and prudent speed, requirement of filing accident report, driving under the influence of alcohol, narcotic or dangerous drug, reckless driving, employment of a drunken operator, failure of garage to keep record of accident damage repairs, and falsifying an accident report. Criminal action would be required for second violations of these laws. All local ordinances and other state laws not regarded as criminal offenses would be considered civil offenses.

Possible imprisonment could be ordered for violation of these criminal laws: fleeing from an officer, driving after suspension or revocation, violation of duties after a personal injury or property damage accident, causing injury by negligent driving when drunk or by reckless driving and motor vehicle fraud incidents.

Death for 'Pushers' Is Asked in France

MARSEILLE (AP)—The mayor of Marseille, center of the Western world's heroin manufacturing industry, announced recently that he would introduce a bill in the National Assembly to make drug peddling punishable by death.

Mayor Gaston Defferre, the Socialist candidate for president in 1965 and 1969, said he thought the death penalty "the only way to put a brake on the escalation in the sale and use of drugs in our country."

Police & Fire Beat

Kenneth C. Schadler, 15, 3535 N. Richmond St., received cuts and bruises Friday morning when the bike he was on was hit in the rear by an automobile one-half mile north of Appleton on N. Morrison Street.

Outagamie County police said the car was driven by Randall L. Brinkman, 16, 2109 N. Erb St. Authorities said Brinkman was traveling south on Morrison when he struck the bike, which was stopped on the west side of the street. Police said Brinkman left the scene of the accident.

William Recker, 20, 1020 W. Harris St., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital Thursday night after being cut in a fall at a W. College Avenue liquor store, where he was working. It was incorrectly reported in Friday's Post-Crescent that the fall occurred at a tavern.

Appleton police are investigating a burglary of a machine shed of Eugene Philippi, 1331 E. Northland Ave., where a riding lawn mower worth $150 and several other items, including numerous tools on which no value was placed, were stolen. Police were told the shed was burglarized between September of last year and this month.

Fire fighters went to the home occupied by Michael Thuber, 520 E. Lincoln St., Friday night, on the report of a television set smoking. Officials found no fire when they arrived but disconnected power.

Conant Bikers Return

BY BILL HURRLE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
NEENAH — The 17 Conant Junior High School people who trekked to La Crosse last week on bikes reported lots of fun and no problems.

The ride was the year-end, peak activity of the school's camping and conservation club. Three adult advisors and 14 kids, only four of them boys, made the ride.

Mary Gjertson, one of the advisors, said the only problem was winds. "It gets to being like going uphill all the time." The non-polluting trip was pedaled off in three days, one less than planned.

Miss Gjertson said the best day was across the flatlands in the center of the state. The group made it from Wautoma to Wyeville, about 65 miles. The average speed was someplace between 10 and 15 m.p.h., with the boys setting the pace.

Miss Gjertson was mounted on a Peugeot, 10-speed racer and said that most of the troupe had either 10-speeds, 5-speeds, or at least 3-speeds.

But there were six stalwart girls who made it on single-speed middleweights. That is no mean feat. "Some of them didn't walk a single hill, either," the teacher said.

The most beautiful part of the trip was between Sparta and La Crosse on the Wisconsin Bikeway, a trial that crosses the state from La Crosse to Lake Michigan south of Milwaukee. Wisconsin

Teacher Salary Base at $7,300 In Winnebago

BY DINAH WALTER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WINNECONNE — Beginning Winnebago teachers with a bachelor's degree will receive a base salary of $7,300 for the 1971-72 school year.

This is a $300 increase from the base of $7,000 beginning teachers were paid during the present school year.

The increase brings the base into close competition with salaries in the Twin Cities. The Menasha school system is currently in teacher negotiations for the 1971-72 school year, but its base this year was $7,250. Winnebago, like Menasha, figures its wage schedule on a school year basis (August to August).

Neenah computes its salaries on a calendar year basis, and its base for the 1971 (January through December) is $7,450. The school system is currently in negotiations for the 1972 year.

$7,900 Masters

The Winnebago salary chart also provides an increase for teachers with a master's degree, from $7,600 this year to $7,900 for the coming school year.

The school district does not provide a schedule for staff members with a doctorate degree. However, it does provide for 4 per cent index increments up to 13 years of experience.

The Winnebago professional staff works at either the Winnebago Central School, which includes elementary, middle school and senior high students, or at the Winchester elementary school.

Handling the negotiating for the teachers was a committee of the Winnebago Education Association.

Teacher Supply

In the past couple years, Winnebago, like other school districts, has had little difficulty in obtaining teachers. Applications have been numerous, and the difficulties arose only in more specialized teaching areas.

The salary increases will be incorporated into the school district's budget, which has not yet been completed.

However, Jann Peterson, school superintendent, said the budget must be finished in time for publishing in early July.

Compiling Requests

The annual meeting of the Winnebago School District will be held on July 26 and it is at this meeting that the citizenry either approves or rejects the budget.

Peterson said that the department requests have been submitted and the school is in the process of closing books. When the administration has completed drawing up proposed expenditures and revenues, it will submit the budget to the board of education, which is expected to give its stamp of approval by July 8, since any later time would not permit adequate publishing before the annual meeting.

Last July, citizens approved a board of education recommended budget of $1,461,306.

Guidance Clinic Move To Winnebago Delays

OSHKOSH — "The carpenters had three weeks of work left when they went on strike," said Psychological Association's annual convention in Washington, Fred Kepfield. He shrugged when asked when the clinic would move to remodeled quarters at Sunnyview aSatorium in the old nurse's dorm.

Electricians are at work now on the $40,000 job, said Supv. Victor Delwiche, Oshkosh. The move from the WNAM building on the southern edge of Neenah was originally scheduled for May 1, when the lease ran out.

The guidance board flinched at the thought, but will submit a resolution asking for $5,000 from unbudgeted general funds to cover the cost of additional furniture which will be needed when the move is made and guidance staffers will be able to have their own offices and desks.

Needs Furniture
The county board is aware that the clinic needs the furniture and fixtures, but grumbles at any request from anybody for unbudgeted funds.

The board will also be asked to ratify the agreement with Waushara County. The Winnebago center provides administrative services to the virtually independent branch under an agreement which is honored by the state. With the state's approval, both clinics get 40 per cent of their costs paid for from non-county funds.

489 Cases
The case load at the center was 489 cases last month, 176 children and 313 adults. Winnebago's clinic saw 502 patients, 143 of them in group therapy. The clinic is the only place in the area which offers group therapy.

Social Services Session Set on Nursing Home Care

OSHKOSH — A public information meeting for Winnebago County elderly persons and for families interested in nursing home care has been scheduled by the county Department of Social Services for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the second floor meeting room of the department.

The social services building is adjacent to the courthouse. Information will be distributed listing all types of nursing homes in the county including public and private with the types and costs of nursing care they offer. Facts will also be given on whether the homes qualify for payment under the Medicare and Medical Assistance programs.

It is an attempt by the department to offer service and counseling to families concerned with nursing home problems. The differences in nursing homes — such as personal care, limited care and skilled nursing care — will be explained as will admission procedures.

Arranging the meeting are Mrs. Kay Berry and Mrs. Mary Brugman, social workers serving clients residing in nursing homes, and Lyle Conrad, social worker serving clients in adult foster homes.

Adult foster care will also be described as an alternative for the elderly who do not really need nursing care but are no longer able to live alone.

Reminder at Fox Valley Lutheran

Education Begins With Graduation

It was graduation night Friday for 106 Fox Valley Lutheran High School youths — a night they had awaited for four years. "short years in which you have accomplished a great deal," they were told.

"But tonight there is danger for you. There is a danger in thinking that you are smarter than you are and have done more than you have," the group was reminded.

Speaking to the FVLH Class of 1971 was the Rev. Donald Nimmer, pastor of St. Paul, Stephenville and Trinity, Ellington congregations.

It was not a putdown; it was a gentle reminder to the young people that this is only the beginning of education, not an end.

Taking a quote from the Book of Proverbs as his theme, "Take fast hold of instruction; let her not go; keep her, for she is thy life," Nimmer reminded the young people that they are still young — much younger than their parents and teachers.

"Parents, even if they don't have as much book knowledge, are your teachers. Even if you have exceeded their years of education, you don't know more in the field of common sense. Remember, they've got a whole of your lifetime on you," he said.

And teachers, too, he said, play an important part in your future. "If you go to college, then go there to learn, not to protest and destroy. Some people think that as soon as they enter college they know more than the total administration and all their teachers and that it is a privilege for the school to have them," Nimmer stated.

One of the things you learned here in a Christian school, the pastor reminded the youths, is humility. "Remember that lesson," he urged.

"As you go through life, you must remain humble enough to know that you don't know all the answers and that you must keep on learning, but be smart enough to know that you must try to learn."

As a final reminder, Pastor Nimmer told the class, "Keep God's word. That, also, you were taught here. That's one of the reasons your parents sent you here; they cared enough to not only try to give you an education, but a Christian education."

Apply Philosophy

And most of all, he added, apply the philosophy that you have learned here to your lives. "It's not enough to know it. It must be used if it is to profit you and those with whom you come in contact," the minister concluded.

Sharing the platform with Nimmer were two young people who shared the highlights of their past four years and the hopes of the future with their parents and friends. Peggy Tiede and Eric Troge represented their class.

The Rev. G. J. Albrecht, chairman of the FVLH federation, gave the scripture reading and along with the principal, the Rev. Harold Warnke, presented the diplomas.

City Finishes First Project, Lists Others for Summer

Appleton has finished its first major construction project of the year, but there is still a long summer ahead and a summer-long list of projects not yet complete.

City Engineer Thomas Harp listed a concrete drainage channel along the city's Northeast Industrial Park as having been finished during the past week. The open drainage-way runs between Roemer and Ballard roads along the south side of Northland Avenue.

Harp urged in his weekly construction report that aldermen inspect the new structure, "as we propose to use this type of drainage structures for open drainage extensively in the future."

Other Items in Harp's report include:

— Northeast sanitary sewer trunk line. Work will be continuing in the vicinity of the Municipal Service Building.

— Sanitary sewer installations on the south side of the city.

Contractors are working in the Park Hills subdivision and in the Starling Acres subdivision in the vicinity of John Street and Weimar Street.

— Sanitary sewer repair. The contractor will be finishing the installation of sanitary sewer in Jackman Street and then moving to John Street west of Meade Street.

Watermain installation. The contractor will be working in Park Hills subdivision and also starting Jackman Street watermain replacement prior to concrete paving. Jackman Street will be closed until after the concrete paving operation is complete.

Concrete Paving

— Concrete Paving: On Telulah Avenue the east side of two intersections and backfilling remain to be done.

On Beechwood Court, Crestview Drive, Lexington Drive, Bay Ridge Road and Montclair Court half of the pavement is in place, and the contractor is scheduling to pour the second half of these streets during the coming week.

Hoover Avenue curb and gutter is completed. The contractor will be completing terrace restoration, and the city will be leveling base stone.

On Soldiers Square the contractor is finishing sidewalks and pouring base concrete. The concrete work should be completed in the coming week, and asphalt surfacing will take place as soon as the concrete has had adequate curing time.

On Drew Street the contractor will start paving the west side, working from Franklin Street toward Wisconsin.

Oneida Bridge

— Oneida Street bascule bridge. Detour signs have been erected in the vicinity, for detouring traffic to Memorial Drive and Lawe Street bridges that will have to be used during the Oneida construction. The signs have been covered, waiting for the contractor to start work as soon as negotiations have been completed with construction trades unions.

— Street painting. City crews will be striping traffic lanes and parking stalls on various streets. This program will continue for some time. Motorists are asked to use care on streets that are newly marked and delineated with traffic cones in morning rush periods.

New Try for Plans Merger

Northeastern Amends Proposals

The Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission executive committee Friday claimed the agency wasn't trying to take over the Fox Valley Council of Governments and proposed a slightly new version of a merger idea.

Gordon Rubolz, chairman and committee member, lauded the commission and shrugged off recent COG delegates' "unethical efforts" to undermine Northeastern and the "personal attacks" on its leadership.

The special committee meeting was called by Rubolz after COG delegates decided to urge Winnebago and Outagamie counties to get out of Northeastern Winnebago and Outagamie officials were invited to attend.

The committee endorsed eight points concerning a COG-Northeastern merger which Rubolz said he and Kaukauna Mayor Gilbert Anderson, COG chairman, had agreed to, excepting one. Anderson has said they also hadn't agreed on a second point — what to do with Northeastern's northern five counties.

Clearer Picture

In Friday's action, the committee came up with an amended eight points and a clearer picture of what it apparently is proposing on the governing bodies for the so-called merged organization.

A key amendment was to maintain the present procedure at Northeastern for selection of commissioners — the governor appoints two, with one being from at least two recommendations by the county board, and the county board appoints the third. East of the nine member counties is represented by three commissioners.

This move doesn't assure city and village representation on the commission as one merger point called for but if the county board voted it, it apparently could assure that elected officials control the commission board.

The committee also amended the points, adding that each county with over 50,000 population could have an additional commission representative for each 50,000 people. But the method for selecting him wasn't indicated.

Rubolz cleared up the commission position on the merger of the governing boards of COG and Northeastern. The two would continue, he said, but the Northeastern board would have the final authority. He assured that it would "respect" the COG board's wishes.

COG delegates had contended Wednesday that Rubolz was trying to absorb COG because an equal merger wasn't possible, unless all counties quit. Northeastern and a new governing board was formed for the merged counties.

Rubolz said this wasn't necessary. He said Northeastern wasn't trying to dominate COG and added that "a simple resolution" could effect the merger.

He also said that the only state legislative changes would be an amendment to allow the additional commissioners onto the commission based on 50,000 population.

The commission is formed under State Statute 66.945 which allows for only three commissioners per county in Northeastern.

In another amendment, the committee agreed that a state-appointed director should run the merged agencies for one year during the transition period.

The committeemen signed a letter being sent to COG urging cooperation and consideration of the merger proposals.

In the informal meeting, Roland and Kampio, Town of Menasha chairman, criticized the absence of direct town representation in the proposed commission governing body. He noted towns represent a third of the tax base in Winnebago, and promised to fight any plan which ignores towns.

The meeting was a continuation of the struggle between the two planning agencies in the formation of new planning boundaries to satisfy new state and federal guidelines.

Valley Couple Volunteers for Brazil Service

A young couple from Appleton soon will be setting out for their second term of volunteer service in Brazil.

Robert S. Chase, son of Mr.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Robert H. Chase, 506 McArthur St., and his wife, the former Susan Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arild Miller, 96 Estherbrook Ave., were Peace Corpsmen in Brazil in 1968 and 1969.

They have now volunteered through Church World Service for a year's work with Diaconia, an interchurch aid committee formed by Brazilian churches.

For the past two years the couple has been in Evanston, Ill., where Chase is a student at Garrett Seminary. Mrs. Chase has been employed by the Methodist Board of Pensions, Evanston, in statistical work.

Chase will be fulfilling the Seminary's requirement of a year's internship in the field through his work for Diaconia. The Brazilian church agency will assign him to a port where he will have responsibility for receiving imported cargoes of relief materials, supervising storage, and expediting delivery within the country to its final destination.

Diaconia is actively engaged in efforts to alleviate hunger and acute want which have been intensified by a severe two-year drought in northeastern Brazil, an already poverty-stricken region.

The agency, working through some 1,800 local committees, carries on a wide variety of food for work and community self-help projects throughout Brazil. It is expected that there will be an opportunity for Mrs. Chase, a former social worker, to use her skills within this area.

Chase is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and Mrs. Chase of Kalamazoo College.

National Guard Convoy Stopped By Truck Fire

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Part of a National Guard troop convoy was delayed and traffic on Interstate 94 was curtailed for 40 minutes Friday night when a truck's canvas top caught fire.

The fire, evidently touched off by a hot exhaust pipe, was brought to the attention of the Army reservist driver when a motorist shouted to him: "Fire."

He said he thought the passerby had said "tire," and discovered the flames after pulling to the roadside to check his wheels.

The incident closed one lane of the busy expressway in suburban Brookfield. The truck was part of a convoy returning to Milwaukee from a summer training tour at Camp McCoy.
